Budget in Brief

Fiscal Year 2014-2015
The City of Tualatin has received the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting for the City’s Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) from the Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA) for the 22nd consecutive year. This year the GFOA presented a Distinguished Budget Presentation Award for the budget beginning July 1, 2013. We are very proud to be recognized by the GFOA.

The City of Tualatin also maintains a Moody’s Aa2 bond rating and this year a “positive outlook” was also assigned to our rating by Moody’s.
A Message from the City Manager

Dear Residents and Businesses of Tualatin,

I am proud to present this year’s Budget in Brief. The adopted budget was approved by the City Council on June 23, and will direct our goal of providing excellent customer service while keeping within our budgetary guidelines.

The complete budget is available for viewing on our website. Making budgetary information readily available to our citizens is part of our ongoing effort to be transparent, responsible and accountable in the management of the City’s resources.

The purpose of the Budget in Brief is to highlight some of the more important and interesting aspects of our 258 page budget. We do this by telling the “story” of the budget. From the Budget Committee who reviews and approves it to the Council who adopts it, these volunteer citizens are to be applauded for their time and work on this document. It includes the goals that drive us; the budget process and where our money comes from and goes, and highlights of what you will see happening around town this year made possible by funds from this year’s budget. Lastly, it includes ways that you as citizens and businesses can be informed and involved. It is the story of months of planning and our organization’s commitment to continuing to provide the services the make Tualatin a great place to Live, Work and Play while living within our means and being stewards of the taxpayer dollars.

The total adopted budget for Fiscal Year 2014/2015, including the Tualatin Development Commission, is $75,842,035. This total accounts for a 3.0% decrease from the 2013/2014 adopted budget, as amended.

I am proud to say that over the last few years when other cities were facing cutbacks and layoffs, our organization rose to the occasion, planned accordingly and weathered the storm without any layoffs, and maintained the ability to still provide the services that our community has come to expect. I am honored to serve with the other 150+ dedicated employees who work for you and to live and work in a community where everyone cares and, as Mayor Lou Ogden says, is the best city south of the North Pole.

Recently, the City went through a rating update with Moody’s Investors Service. The result was an affirmation of the City’s strong Aa2 general obligation unlimited tax bond rating and an assignment of a positive outlook to the city. Moody’s rationale for the rating was due to “overall strong credit characteristics” and goes on to further state that the “city’s financial position is sound and benefits from prudent management as well as reliance on relatively stable revenues.” The positive outlook reflects Moody’s expectations that the city’s economy will “continue to perform well given the strengths of the Portland Metro area, and also that the tax base will continue to recover following the recent downturn plus the benefit of continued in-fill development.” The report is good news for Tualatin and further affirms our strong financial health.

I hope you enjoy this year’s Budget and Brief. I would encourage you to not only visit our website, but check out the last page of this Budget in Brief to see the many ways you can get involved and be informed of what’s happening in our great City.

Tualatin uses the Council-Manager form of government. Our City Charter gives responsibility for the day-to-day operations of the City to the City Manager who is hired by the City Council. The Council consists of a mayor and six councilors who are elected from the city at large and serve four-year terms. Council meetings are typically held the 2nd and 4th Monday of each month, beginning at 7:00 p.m. Council meetings are preceded by a work session that usually begins at 5:00 p.m.

You can contact the City Council by emailing council@ci.tualatin.or.us, or you can use the individual email address below.

A Brief History Lesson

1853 - Samuel Galbreath began a ferry service crossing the Tualatin River from a village he called "Galbreath". The town's name was changed to "Bridgeport" in 1856.

1886 - The Portland & Willamette Railway Company purchased a right-of-way through John Sweek's land on the Tualatin River's west bank opposite Bridgeport. Profiting from the sale, Sweek took advantage of the railroad's location and platted a town around the depot - he called the new town Tualatin.

1890 - John L. Smith moved to Tualatin and established a sawmill close to the river.

1906 - The Oregon Electric Railroad's Portland-Salem line came to town and changed the city's center again.

1913 - The City of Tualatin was incorporated.

The organization is made up of 20 divisions within eight departments responsible for all services except fire, which is provided through a special district, Tualatin Valley Fire & Rescue, and has 149 positions budgeted this year.

"The City of Tualatin recognizes its employees as the greatest asset and strives to maintain a safe, respectful and professional workplace. The City is proud of its dedicated staff who take every opportunity to provide exceptional service to their customers"
- Janet Newport, HR Manager

"I love working for the Tualatin Library because my fellow employees are great to work with, and it feels like I’m in touch with the community"
- Maggie Hannahs

Mike Darby has served the City for 37 years and his dedication and commitment over the years is extraordinary. Mike has stayed with the City, because he “loves his job and being in charge of public improvements”, and loves being known for being “Firm but Fair”.

"I find my work satisfying because I can give back to the community, what the community gives to me."

28,800 hours were donated in 2013! That is the equivalent of almost 14 full-time employees. Volunteers come in all ages and do everything from planting trees to shelving books. From groups of teens - T.E.A.M. Tualatin (Together Everyone Achieves More) and the Library Teen Group, to our volunteer boards and committee members, partnerships with the Tigard-Tualatin School District, and businesses such as Fred Meyer and Comcast, and our sponsors who help us put on our many events throughout the year, our volunteers are the heart of our organization. Tualatin loves its volunteers!

“I have been volunteering for the Tualatin Library for about 20 years. It’s my city and I use the Library, and I love giving back to my community.”

The Budget Process

The annual budget is one of the most important and informative documents city officials will use. In simple terms, the city’s budget is a financial plan for one fiscal year. It shows the estimated costs of expenditures (items or services the city wishes to purchase in the coming fiscal year) and other budget requirements that must be planned for, but won’t actually be spent. It also shows the resources that will be available to pay for those expenditures.

The State of Oregon’s budget law requires citizen involvement in the preparation of the budget. This requirement is achieved through a Budget Committee that consists of the City Council plus an equal number of appointed citizens with equal voting rights. A proposed budget is presented to the Budget Committee who reviews it during public meetings, receives public testimony and then sends the recommended budget to Council for a public hearing and adoption.

The budget authorizes the city to spend money and limits how much money can be spent. It also justifies the levy of property taxes. In order to levy taxes through a county assessor, cities must prepare a budget following a specific local budgeting process.

The Phases

Phase 1: The Budget Officer Puts Together a Proposed Budget

Phase 2: The Budget Committee Approves the Budget

Phase 3: The Budget is Adopted and Property Taxes are Certified (When Appropriate).

Phase 4: The City Operates Under the Adopted Budget.

The adopted budget becomes effective on July 1. The entire budget is available on our website at www.tualatinoregon.gov/finance, or a hard copy is available in our Library and at our Reception desk for viewing.
Overall, the City’s revenues, less "transfers" and "other revenue", increased 4.8%. Once again, we are experiencing stable revenue growth, with all categories either maintaining previous levels or showing increases for 2014/2015.

Property taxes continue to make up almost half of the general fund revenues and are the second largest revenue source city-wide.

Property Tax Rate (per $1,000 of assessed value) multiplied by Assessed Value equals Property Tax Revenue. After a few years of less than 3% growth in our assessed value, our growth rate is increasing. Developments such as Nyberg Rivers are projected to increase our assessed value in FY 15/16 and FY 16/17. Tualatin has one of the lowest tax rates compared to cities in the Portland Metro area.
City Departments were given the premise of “Maintaining our Current Level of Services, aligned with the City Council’s Goals” to work with as they put together budget requests. Even with expenditure increases related to items out of the City’s control (utility rate increases, fuel prices and other contractual obligations), departments did an outstanding job keeping expenditure growth to a manageable level.

Throughout the budget, materials and services are at or below previous year levels. There was a 3.0% increase from last year largely due to contractual obligations. Beyond these increases, materials and services are remaining steady.

Increases in Personnel Services are primarily contractual, and Capital Outlay is decreasing from last year due to the Operations Warehouse project being completed.

“The FY 2014/2015 Budget is once again a financially stable budget and further proves that the City of Tualatin is a Great Place to Live, Work, and Play.”

Tualatin’s General Fund
Around Town - What to Expect This Year

It seems like no matter where you go, there is construction going on. The good news is that construction and improvements leads to better streets, safer sidewalks, more bikeways and projects that make a community a better place to live. Here are some of the projects that are included in the budget that you will see around town this year, some more visible than others, but all planned to make Tualatin a great place to Live, Work and Play.

The extension of Seneca Street will allow for safer traffic in and around the Library, City offices and the new Nyberg Rivers Development as well as connecting to the Commons. It will include a traffic signal and cross-walks.

The Borland Road Frontage Project will add sidewalks to Borland Road from 65th Avenue to the eastern boundary of the City limits to enable safe pedestrian traffic.

Sidewalk and Street Tree Repair and Maintenance

Repair unimproved road ways

Another not so visible, but just as exciting, change is in the city’s financial, community development and operations software implementation which we refer to as the Big 3. The migration to these updated software programs will allow us to provide better and more efficient services which the public has asked for and we are committed to provide.

For more information on ongoing projects through the City, please visit our website at www.tualatinoregon.gov.
Tualatin Today - The City’s monthly newsletter is mailed to all residents and businesses in the City. It provides information on what’s happening in Tualatin from volunteer opportunities and special events to construction and street improvement updates. It also includes information on what our CIOs (Community Involvement Organization) are up to and other valuable and interesting information. The newsletter is printed monthly with the exception of the December/January combined issue.

The GetOut! Guide is the City’s Activity Guide and is inserted in the newsletter monthly. It includes activities for kids, teens, adults, and over 50’s put on by the Library, Juanita Pohl Center, Heritage Center and Recreation.

You can watch the City Council meetings live! Council meetings are streamed live on the day of the meeting. You may click on this icon on our website to stream live.

Citizen Involvement is highly valued in the City of Tualatin. The City strives to involve and inform citizens in decisions that affect our Community’s quality of life. The CIO (Citizen Involvement Organization) Program is a grass roots effort started and implemented by Tualatin residents to improve communication with one another and with City government. To learn more about this program, or to get involved, please visit our website or contact the Deputy City Manager.
