SARA'S CORNER

Warm up your winter at the Juanita Pohl Center!

Winter is a great time to explore new hobbies, challenge your mind, and socialize in a cozy, welcoming environment.

Try a new drop-in activity like billiards, bingo, bunco and the Thursday morning Coffee & Conversations group. Games are excellent for mental stimulation and offer a fun way to socialize. The JPC Book Club is a fantastic way to stimulate your mind and connect with others – the group meets on the last Wednesday of the month at 2pm. Check out the daily calendar for more programs and activities!

We look forward to seeing you at the Juanita Pohl Center this winter!

Keep Actively Aging!

COMMUNITY CONVERSATIONS:

*In-partnership with the Tualatin Food Pantry.
Presented by Kathleen Sullivan, Ph.D.*

Your Body of Work

Eleanor Roosevelt is quoted as saying, "Beautiful young people are accidents of nature, but beautiful old people are works of art." This hour we will learn the difference between performance-based exercise and fitness-based exercise. As we age, it is vital that we engage in performance-based exercise so we can continue to build power, speed, agility, balance and coordination. Getting up off a chair, for instance, is a POWER move. Fitness and strength are not only important as we age; they are also how we can help ourselves age in place.

Tuesday, December 2 | 11am-12pm

Free with a donation of a non-perishable food item

Memory Palooza!

We will learn about how to maintain our memory and cognitive (thinking) function while playing memory games in a group setting. Games include-group story making, category recall race and a "What's Mission" game. These games work different parts of our minds, from semantic fluency to visual memory and episodic or verbal memory.

Tuesday, January 6 | 11am-12pm

Free with a donation of a non-perishable food item

Aging in Place

What is Aging in Place and how can we proactively organize our built environment (our homes), our social network and our mental and physical ability to age successfully? Topics will include home modification ideas, creating new connections and keeping our bodies and minds active. We will also discuss the importance of sleep as a foundation of healthy aging.

Tuesday, February 3 | 11am-12pm

Free with a donation of a non-perishable food item

EARTHWISE CREW

From Machu Picchu to the mighty Amazon

A country of dense tropical rain forests, high mountains and dry desert, Peru is also home to two of the wonders of the world—the magical 15th-Century Inca city of Machu Picchu and the mighty Amazon, the river that defies most superlatives. Dr. Rob Wiedenmann will share photos and stories from his visits to this spectacular country.
