The Oregonian Names Tualatin Police Department a Winner of the Oregon Top Workplaces 2020 Award

Tualatin Police Department has been awarded a Top Workplaces 2020 honor by The Oregonian. The list is based solely on employee feedback gathered through a third-party survey administered by employee engagement technology partner Energage, LLC. The anonymous survey uniquely measures 15 drivers of engaged cultures that are critical to the success of any organization: including alignment, execution, and connection, just to name a few.

“In times of great change, it is more important than ever to maintain a connection among employees,” said Eric Rubino, Energage CEO. “When you give your employees a voice, you come together to navigate challenges and shape your path forward based on real-time insights into what works best for your organization. The Top Workplaces program can be that positive outcome your company can rally around in the coming months to celebrate leadership and the importance of maintaining an employee-focused culture, even during challenging times.”

“While we’re not perfect, this is a pretty great place to work and it is all because of our officers and professional staff”, said Bill Steele, Chief of Police. “As difficult as 2020 has been, they still come to work every day and get the job done in a way that separates them from others. Their commitment and safety has been tested like never before and they have risen to the challenge. When Tualatin Police Department was nominated for this award, the optional survey that was sent out to everyone garnered an 87% response rate. That’s pretty impressive and it shows me that our officers and staff truly care about our department. I can’t thank them enough for what they do every day. I appreciate them and our community appreciates them!”
